About the Program

The MBA International Finance is integrated with the ACCA (Association of Chartered Certified Accountants) Qualification and it is also accredited by ACCA by granting the highest number of exemptions (Knowledge & Skill Modules - 9 in Total) where the students write a few ACCA external examinations (4 examinations) to qualify. The Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) qualification opens door to a successful career in accounting and finance across industries and countries. As of date, ACCA is a 116-year-old diverse body of more than 219,000 members and 527,000 students in 179 countries. An ACCA qualification leads to an exciting and highly rewarding accounting and finance career. Along with equipping you with technical skills, the program curriculum will drive you to think strategically with professional and ethical values to enable you to take your organizations forward. The ACCA qualification is recognized and extremely respected especially in the fields of investment banking, management, and consulting. It provides an opportunity to work in several technical areas including Audit and Assurance, Corporate Reporting, Financial Management, Tax, Governance, and Ethics. An MBA combined with a professional ACCA certification will propel you towards a rewarding senior management role with a firm grip over finance.
